Everything on TV, with Google Chromecast integrated, easily Everything can be accessed from the remote control. Otherwise, click "skip" to choose the configuration via "android.com/setup" or by entering user data manually. Google will configure the Android TV with your data: You just have to finish the process by accepting the terms on your TV. Navigate to the screen using "Next" and your mobile phone will detect the Android TV after several seconds of searching. Once you have connected the device to the TV, Wi-Fi and your Google account, you can enjoy it with all the applications available on Google Play. Click "Configure and Restore" and then on "Near machine configuration". Configuration using "androidtv.com/setup" We have already seen that installing the TV on another Android device is very simple, but the configuration procedure without another phone is not more complicated. Select "Skip" on the selection screen with another Android and select the WiFi connection that the device will use. this process It can be done with the help of another phone, using a web browser or manually entering all the data With Android TV remote control. You will have to authorize the process. If you have an Android phone, use the settings with the mobile phone (recommended). Android TV will likely suggest apps for you to install: select the apps you want or move them to the screen. There's not much to it, but just in case Google wants to change things around, the tool is now on the Play Store. Choose the language and go to the next screen. Now open a web browser and go to the "androidtv.com/setup" Write down the code that appears on the TV screen. Televisions and players with Android TV It's a good buy if you want to have all of your entertainment at the touch of a remote. We show you How to set up your Android TV without a hassle and in less than five minutes. To start the Android TV setup process, you must do the following: Connect your Android TV following the manufacturer's scheme (to the free HDMI jack on the TV). There's not much to this, and most users won't ever need to actually visit the Play Store listing to update the app. We'll ignore this last configuration method because it's too cumbersome, although you can use it if you don't have another Android or browser at hand, be it a mobile phone or a desktop. Once the process is finished, you will have an active Android TV: install the apps you want from Google Play and that's it. It should download to the latest Chromecast (and any other Android TV devices with the Google TV interface) automatically, and update as needed. When you first turn on the new Chromecast with Google TV, you're put through an extremely simple setup process: choose your language, connect to Wi-Fi, log in to Google, select your default streaming apps. The latest Google service to bite the dust is the celebrity-focused Cameos After two years and very few actual users About The Author Michael Crider (3609 Articles Published) More From Michael Crider Using both methods, your new Android TV will be configured in a few steps and in less than five minutes. Netflix, Movistar +, HBO, Disney + and more: Android TV provides access to endless entertainment, including games. Touch to log in with your Google account. Select "Use your phone or computer" to avoid having to type with your Android TV remote. In addition, it is very easy to configure Android TV, you only need to follow a few steps. I suspect that Google's main drive for putting this APK up on the Play Store is so that it can add and remove streaming services from the final step; for example, replacing CBS All Access with Paramount+. Make sure the same code is displayed on the TV screen and the phone screen, then click Next. Log in to the browser with the Google account that will be transferred to your Android TV. In any case, it's there on the Play Store if you need it. We're also keeping track of the releases over on APK Mirror, as usual. Select the WiFi network your Android TV will connect to and accept Google copy from mobile phone to TV set. Of course, it requires an installation that, despite its simplicity, has various methods of implementation. Android TV is an operating system for televisions and large screen compatible devices and not only provides access to A lot of applications And multimedia streaming services, as well as Android applications and games. Android TV setup with another Android Android TV configuration process from Android phone If using Android, you must configure the Android TV as if it was a new phone. In the event that there is no browser at hand, log in from the remote control. Now complete the process on your TV by accepting the terms of use, the apps to be installed, and the rest of the information needed to formalize the startup. Turn it on and select the HDMI to which you have connected the device. Select the Google Account that you will use with the Android TV. For this, Google has provided a website that is easy to process, and you will need a browser to access it (valid for both desktop and mobile). Assisted setup and two methods of installation As with First boot of Android phone Any device with Android TV, whether it is a TV or a player, you need to run the installation process to register a Google account, and choose whether to use it or not Assistant, Select the apps to install and also register the device with the manufacturer. To do this, you must perform the following process: Open phone settings and search for Google options.
